Why is the program important?

The program provides students with a strong foundation for beginning university studies.

The language barrier, one of the main challenges faced by international students in the education process, is addressed.

Students become more familiar with the local culture, which facilitates their social adaptation.

Students develop both linguistically and academically and take confident steps toward their future studies.

By joining the Preparatory Program, students gain a solid foundation for success in both their professional and social lives. Our educational environment is organized according to students' needs and ensures an individual approach for everyone.

Through this program, students will not only acquire academic knowledge but will also have the opportunity to become part of a new culture. The teaching process is conducted by experienced instructors using modern teaching methods.
